CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, February 10.

Mr. Dawson said it would be remembered that some days ago there was before the house a bill for raising an additional number of seamen. He had since received a letter on the subject from the secretary of the navy, which, as he intended to call up the bill to-morrow, he submitted to the house as follows:

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

27th January, 1893.

SIR, Your letter of yesterday in relation to the number of seamen at present wanted by government for the service of the U. States, has been referred to the president, and I am charged by him to inform you that he does not wish to be empowered to employ more seamen than the number at present authorized by law, viz. 1425, of which 925 were authorized by the act of congress of 21st of April, 1806, and 500 by the act of 3d of March, 1807.

I have the honor to be,
Respectfully, sir,
Your obedient servant, (Signed) RT. SMITH.

Honorable Mr. Dawson, Congress.
On motion of Mr. Cook, the house went a committee of the whole, 51 to 27, on the bill for extinguishing the debts due from the U. S. Mr. Catts in the chair.

The first section of this bill provides, That all persons, or the legal representatives of persons, to whom loan office, or final settlement certificates, or indents of interest, have been issued, and all persons in whose favor settlements have been made at the treasury, or who stand credited on the books of the treasury, which said certificates, credits and settlements, were issued or made for services or supplies, done or furnished prior to the fourth day of March, in the year one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, and have not since been funded or paid; and all persons who served in the armies of the U. S. during the late revolutionary war with Great Britain, and to whom arrears of pay, clearly appearing on the muster and pay rolls, or other authentic documents now existing in the war office, or in any other department of government, may be due, shall be allowed to present their respective claims at the treasury, and shall receive the amount thereof, without any interest, upon proving by the oath or affirmation of at least one disinterested witness, to the satisfaction of the accounting officers of the treasury, that he or she so claiming, is the person or legal representative of the person to whom the same was originally due.

The second section provides, That claimants for services of any kind rendered, and for supplies of any kind furnished to the U. S. prior to the fourth day March, 1789, which have heretofore been barred, by any resolutions or any laws of congress, shall be allowed to present their respective claims to the accounting officers of the treasury, who are thereby authorized to liquidate and settle the same without interest thereon, provided such claims are duly supported by sufficient vouchers, &c. the claimant making oath, that the said claim, nor any part thereof, has not been before paid to any person or in any manner whatever.

The other five sections contain details.

The first section of the bill being read,

Mr. Goldsborough conceiving that persons who had loaned money to the government, as well as those who had furnished supplies, should be indemnified, moved to insert, after the word "furnished," the words "or money loaned."

Mr. Taylor, to try the principle of the bill, made a motion to strike out the first section, which he presumed would supersede the motion of the gentleman from Maryland.

On this motion a discussion took place which occupied the remainder of the sitting, in which Messrs. Minor, Cook, Holland, Rowan and Love, opposed the motion to strike out and supported the bill, and Messrs. Taylor, Rhea (Ten.) Alston, Sloan and Maccon, supported the motion and opposed the bill. When,

On motion of Mr. Upham, the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again.

An engrossed bill supplementary to an act for prohibiting the importation of certain goods, wares and merchandise, was read the third time and passed.

The Volunteer Company of Alexandria are requested to have their arms and accoutrements in readiness to join in celebration of the approaching 22d.

By order,

WM. F. GRAY, 1st sergt.

BALL.

THE BALL will be held at the Washington Tavern, on Tuesday Evening next.

The Managers.

A subscription paper is left at the bar. February 12.

ACTS.

Passed by the Virginia Legislature at the Session of 1892-3.

An act altering the sessions of the court of appeals, and for other purposes.

The court of appeals, shall hereafter hold three sessions in each year.

The first, to commence the first of March, and continue 27 juridical days; the second, to commence the 15th of April, and continue 44 days; and the third, to commence the 1st of October, and continue 55 days. If from any cause, a sufficient number of judges to make a court do not attend, there shall be no discontinuance of the court, but it shall stand adjourned from day to day, for ten days, and if a court be not formed within that time, then the court and all the suits therein depending, shall stand adjourned to the first day of the next term.

Explanatory of the act entitled "an act concerning the election of members of the general assembly."

No person inhabiting within the district of Columbia, or elsewhere, not within the jurisdiction of this commonwealth, shall exercise the right of suffrage therein, except citizens thereof, employed abroad in the service of the United States, or this state, and whose foreign residence is occasioned by such service.

To suspend the operation of an act concerning the public guard. This suspension only extended to the 20th of January.

Incorporating trustees of a free school or schools in King George county.

Authorising an appropriation of part of the money, arising from the sale of the glebe of Norborne parish.

Incorporating trustees of Centerville academy.

Concerning the Potomac company.

Concerning the road from the upper navigation of Kenawha river, to the upper navigation of James river.

Concerning the town of Harrisonburg, in the county of Rockingham.

To amend and continue an act, concerning the James river company.

Establishing a turnpike over the South mountain, on Rockfish gap.

Establishing an artificial highway from Charleston, in the county of Brook, to the Virginia and Pennsylvania state line, near the farm of Francis McGuire.

For the security of public property in the city of Richmond—Continuing part of the public guard.

Annexing the counties of Amherst and Nelson to the district for which a chancery court is directed to be holden in Staunton.

Incorporating trustees of the female charity school of Fredericksburgh.

An act to amend an act, entitled "An act providing for the poor, and declaring who shall be deemed vagrants."

This act gives to the overseers of the poor the power of appointing a steward or manager for their poor houses, who shall be subject to the control of such overseers of the poor. If at an adjourned meeting of the overseers of the poor, the number required by law do not attend, those present may adjourn from day to day, till a sufficient number shall attend. [To commence from the passing.]

Concerning the tobacco destroyed by the burning of Royton's warehouse, in the town of Fredericksburgh.

Incorporating a company to establish a turnpike from the little river turnpike road to Fauquier court house.

Authorising James Campbell and Robert Spotswood, to convert the bridge across Appomattox river at the Exeter mill into a toll bridge.

To prevent further the practice of slaves going at large or hiring out themselves.

If a person shall permit his slave to hire himself out, any person may, and it shall be the duty of every sheriff, coroner, sergeant and constable, to apprehend and carry the slave before a magistrate, who shall forthwith impose on the offender, a fine not less than ten or more than twenty dollars; or he may commit the slave to jail, there to remain till the next court, by which court the offender may be fined not less than twenty, nor more than fifty dollars, or the slave directed to be sold. The slave shall be held in custody and liable for the fine, and may be sold for that purpose, by order of the magistrate or court, unless the fine and all incidental charges, be paid within ten days after it shall be imposed. Such fines shall be for the use of the poor.

Provided, that no sale of a slave for such fines, shall transfer a greater interest than is held by the person incurring the fine. [To commence the first day of June next.]

Concerning Augustine I. Smith.

Concerning the court of chancery for the Richmond district. The sessions of this court are hereafter to commence on the first day of February, June and September, and continue 24 days, if business requires. The executive are to provide seals for the superior courts of chancery. There are some other provisions in this act, which are merely temporary.

To provide for the opening of a road from Simpson's creek across the North mountain, in the county of Rockbridge.

To amend the acts, &c. concerning runaways.

The reward for apprehending a runaway to two dollars.—Where an officer is directed to advertise a runaway, he may do it in any newspaper most convenient for that purpose. If a sheriff or sergeant shall hire out a runaway, it shall be done for three months at a time, for the space of twelve months, unless the owner shall sooner claim: if the owner claim not in twelve months, the officer shall advertise in some newspaper for one month, the time and place of sale. [To commence from the passing.]

Appointing trustees of the town of Berkeley, in the county of Berkeley, and for other purposes.

To organize and establish a superior court of law in each county of this commonwealth.

The details of this act are too lengthy for insertion. It is, however, the less necessary, because it does not take effect till the first of January, 1893; and in the mean time, its contents will be generally known. The objects, however, designed by this law, seem principally to be, 1. The reduction of the present immense expences in criminal prosecutions, occasioned by the distance which witnesses and venire men have in most cases to travel. 2. A more speedy and therefore a more cheap administration of justice, and 3. To carry justice to the doors of the people.

Its general provisions are, that two additional judges of the general court are to be appointed, who, with the other ten judges of that court, are to attend each one circuit twice a year. The state is divided into twelve circuits, and one judge is to exercise at the court house of each county, twice a year, the jurisdiction now exercised by two judges at the district courts.

Concerning the sale of property under executions and incumbrances.

1. So much of the act of the 10th of December, 1793, as directs that when property taken in execution will not sell for three-fourths of its value, it may be sold on twelve months credit, or the debtor may repay for twelve months, and whatever relates to executions in that act, either in the appointment of commissioners, or for the direction of the sheriff, clerk, &c. is declared to be in force.

"No property shall be sold by a commission appointed by any court of chancery, or by a trustee under a deed hereafter executed, unless it shall sell for three-fourths of the value estimated by the commissioners to be appointed by this act; who, or any three of them, shall make the valuation, and deliver it in writing, to the commissioners appointed by the court of chancery or to the trustees. The commissioners who may act, shall be entitled to a dollar per day, to be paid by the creditor and taxed in the bill of costs. This act is not to extend to executions against sheriffs, or other public officers for delinquencies, or failing to pay money received on executions, or to attorneys for money received for their clients; nor to executions in behalf of any bank. But it shall extend to executions issued by a magistrate for all sums above ten dollars; and the constable or other officer shall return the bond within thirty days to the clerk's office, to be proceeded on as other replevy bonds. All executions which shall be awarded on forth-coming bonds, executed before the commencement of this act, shall be proceeded in as other executions; but the proceedings on all forth-coming bonds executed thereafter, shall be as heretofore. So much of this act, as relates to the appointment of commissioners, shall commence from the passing; and the courts shall appoint them at their Feb. term, or as soon thereafter as possible; the residue of the act shall commence on the first of March next, and continue in force till the expiration of thirty days after the discontinuance of the embargo. But so much of the act as authorises to direct the manner of proceeding on replevy bonds, is made perpetual.

Imposing taxes for the support of government.

The taxes remain as heretofore, except an addition of ten dollars on hawkers and pedlars.

On lands for every $ 100 value, according to the equalizing law, 49

On slaves above 12 years; except those exempted by the courts, 44

On every stud horse or jack ass, twice the price of the season.

On all other horses, mules, mares and colts, 12

On every ordinary licence, 5 dollars, on every hundred dollars of the rent, to be ascertained by the rent paid by the tenant; but if in the occupation of the proprietor, to be ascertained by the commissioners of the revenue; provided, that no ordinary shall pay less than 12 dollars. On every four wheeled riding carriage, except phaetons and stage waggon, 1 dollar 25 cents per wheel. On all phaetons and stage waggon, 84 cents per wheel. On houses and lots in town, 1 dollar 55 cents, on every 100 dollars of the rent, to be ascertained by the rent paid by the tenant, but, if in the occupancy of the proprietor, to be ascertained by the commissioners of the revenue.

On merchants' licences to sell by wholesale and retail, 40 dollars. For retail only,

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.

Very late from Europe.

We have since our last publication, completed our files of London papers and Lloyd's Lists in the middle of December, by the ship President. From these we have continued our extracts at considerable length.

The severity of winter has been experienced in England this season to an unusual degree. Our papers furnish many distressing instances of persons who have perished in the streets and on the highway through excessive cold.

We observe in some of the British prints and especially in those which are termed provincial, a spirit of thinking on important political subjects worthy of high imitation, and a freedom of expression against obvious public measures not exercised in any other nation on earth excepting the United States of America. On the late disastrous shipwreck off the coast of Ireland, of which we gave a melancholy account in the Mercantile Advertiser, of January 23d, one of the English editors thus ventures his opinion:

"We should be sorry to affix a label to the visitations of Heaven, assigning to each the crime they are destined to avenge—we are aware that a stone from the Tower of Babel will be ever and anon falling, to dash out the brains of some unfortunate, and to afford an opportunity to the self-righteous of erecting a sign post to the ways of Providence; but we would be far from imitating such an example. As the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither is misfortune the constant attendant of guilt. And yet the reflecting mind cannot contemplate the awful catastrophe which has befallen that part of our force recently employed in a work of violence and dishonor, without involuntarily tracing the punishment of the crime.
We have, as it were in a moment, and directly from him who rules the world, lost double the number of the men that fell in the actual attack on Copenhagen. The Danes have had their cause avenged, not by themselves but by a superior power."

LONDON, November 28.

All colonial produce is stated to fetch very high prices at Hamburg, yet we understand that the popular feeling at Amsterdam and Rotterdam is decidedly in favor of Bonaparte.

Such of the English as have ventured to continue in Portugal are put under arrest, and their property confiscated. The most rigid restrictions are imposed on their intercourse with each other. The agent for packets, whilst endeavoring to get on board the Washington, was seized by two soldiers; but being enabled to shew them a report, he was at length permitted to ascend on board.

We understand that the entrance into the Tagus is now fortified by 600 cannon, and that a general is appointed to take the command on each bank.

Campbell, the spy, who was lately, by a telegraphic communication, ordered to be arrested by government, but who escaped on board a small vessel from Marazion, in Cornwall, has fortunately been disappointed in his attempt to reach the shores of France. The vessel has been driven back by the late heavy gales, and Mr. Campbell is secured.

We understand that it is intended by government, for the present to consider as neutral Portuguese and Prussian ships, and also the four petty flags of Pappenheim, Knipphasen, Oldenburgh and Mecklenburgh.

A well known native of Ireland, who a few years ago made a distinguished figure in our fashionable circles particularly those chiefly occupied in play, and who was among the prisoners at Verdun, is said, contrived to obtain leave to visit Paris, where he has rendered himself so acceptable to the French government, that it is asserted he has actually been sent upon a secret mission to some of his countrymen at Vienna.

A new board is to be established at the admiralty for the purpose of examining maps, charts, &c. and collecting nautical intelligence for the use of the navy. The members are to be, sir Robert Barlow, deputy controller to the navy; James Bowen, esq. a commissioner of transports; captains sir Home Popham, Hurd and Columbine. They are to be assisted in their examinations by Alex.
Dairymple, esq. the present Hydrographer to the admiralty.

November 30.

Every thing intimates that Bonaparte has not yet settled the affairs of Germany entirely to his mind. Several bodies of troops that had been ordered to Paris, are directed to remain in the former quarters. The fortress of Brannau was, in the middle of October, victualled for three months by the French. It is also stated that several points of dispute still remain to be adjusted between Austria and France. As the former has before this consented to shut her ports against Britain, we should suppose that every thing is now settled for a time with regard to her. But our enemy seems determined to retain the power of instantly punishing the slightest deviation from his commands, Brannau is an important post as it commands a passage to Vienna, and will not, therefore, be readily given up.

LONDON, December 14.

A gentleman just arrived from Cadiz in an American vessel says, at the time of his departure, barracks were preparing at a place called La Isla, for an immense body of French troops, among whom were to be 10,000 miners; and the whole were intended to be employed in the siege of Gibraltar on a vast scale. The people of Cadiz considered the project as extremely wild and romantic. There were 11 sail of the line, six French & five Spanish, in the port of Cadiz, all ready for sea. Our informant assures us, that so early as the latter end of October, they were every moment in expectation of being joined by the Russian fleet (a proof that a secret understanding did exist long before between France and Russia.) The Russian fleet was only prevented by the presence of admiral Purvis' squadron from entering that port. On the arrival of that fleet at Gibraltar, a telegraphic communication was immediately sent to Cadiz. The drums were beat, all officers were instantly ordered on board the ships, and the very same military ceremonies, which our informant witnessed previous to the battle of Trafalgar, were observed on this occasion.
Had the Russians come in, it was universally understood that the whole of the three combined squadrons would have forced their way out, and proceeded to Carthage, to join the seven Spanish sail of the line there. There was a great disappointment felt at Cadiz, and a general outcry against the Russians.

The Danes are making uncommon exertions to recruit their marine. It is stated that there were on the 20th ult. at sea, or readiness for sea, two sail of the line, three frigates, thirteen brigs carrying from 14 to 18 guns, one schooner of 10 guns, seven gun-boats mounting from two to 6 guns, and two smaller ones, besides numerous yawls, each carrying a gun, and in some instances 4 howitzers. It is a singular fact, that when the Danish fleet was surrendered to us, it was stated that the ships were unprovided with boats; they had been sent away, and kept concealed till the term of our convention expired, when several hundreds of them made their appearance in the harbor. Many of these had been fitted with guns for the annoyance of our trade in the Baltic.

The seizure of British property in Russia has been general; but we understand the amount has not been considerable, and there are not any accounts of the persons of the British residents there having been arrested.

Some farther accounts from Holland have reached town. It is reported that an incorporation of Holland with Westphalia is in the contemplation of Bonaparte; while other statements mention, that Holland is to remain as it is, but to have Murat for its king instead of Louis Bonaparte, who is to have the throne of Portugal, with an addition of territory from Spain. A third report names Lucien Bonaparte for the kingdom of Portugal; but it is more likely that the new kingdom of Latium is destined for him.

daughter of Mr. Baldwin Dade, of this city.

The legislature of Virginia adjourned on the 10th instant.

The wits remark that by late advices from Washington Mr. Jefferson's red plush breeches are becoming more of a Rose color.

The British papers announce that "the treaty between France and Austria was signed at Fontainebleau on the 31st of October." This new treaty must unquestionably prove very important; and will lead, according to all probability, to some great events, the disclosure of which, subdued and resigned Europe looks for in silence.

Several letters from France say that the constriction for the year 1809, has been called forth, and is to give 30,000 men for the armies. The military force of the French empire comprehending 600,000 men, and the allied powers with Italy, furnishing a contingence of 200,000 and probably above that number; one can hardly conceive that Bonaparte should be under the necessity of making this new appeal to the nation. However we shall probably soon discover from the march of his forces, the motive he has had for so doing.

Capt. Williams, of the Sea-Nymph, from St. Croix, informs, that admiral Cochrane had gone to windward to blockade Martinique.
News of the embargo was brought to St.
Croix by captain Sims from New York. It excited much alarm among the inhabitants.
Flour rose from 8 to 14 dollars in one day, and other provisions in proportion.

(New York paper, Feb. 10.)

Extract of a very important letter from Washington received at Philadelphia, dated February 4.

"I have not, from my political standing, access to the official fountains—it is not mine accidere ad fontes—but information from those sources has descended to me through such channels, that I can venture to assure you almost beyond a doubt, that our differences with Great Britain will be speedily and satisfactorily accommodated. Apprehensions of French influence upon our counsels have been entertained even by many of the republican party—But that danger is nearly over. We shall have peace with Britain. War with France will follow: and America and Britain will be the only obstacles to the gigantic project of Napoleon & Alexander to divide the world between them. Gloomy will be the prospect horrible will be the contest!—Heaven alone can save us, and let us confidently hope that Heaven will smile on the cause of Freedom."

Alliance between France and the United States.
CHERBOURG, Nov. 26.

Within these few days a convivial and fraternal meeting of French and American seamen took place in the roads of Cherbourg. Capt.
Franklin Read, commander of the American schooner Revenge, charged with conveying to France an envoy from the United States, went with his officers on board the French corvette La Cygne, Capt. Troblant. The deck of the corvette was transformed into a banqueting room, the ceiling of which was composed of canvas, studded with stars. The sides of the room were decorated with the American and French flags conjoined. At one end was seen the busts of his majesty the emperor and king, and at the other, a representation of the President of the United States. The first toast was given on this occasion by the French captain: "To Jefferson—May the wise President of the U. States long cherish for the love of his country the love of the French name." The American captain then rose and all the guests by a natural pre-sentiment imitated his example:—"Comrades," said he, "To his majesty the emperor and king—May his happy genius soon avenge the liberty of the seas, and make all nations one single family!" Another of the American officers gave "To the French seamen, with whom we will make common cause, if the common enemy do not quickly make amends for his injustice and violence."

Also, a tan-yard with sundry improvements, a comfortable dwelling house and lot adjoining, very handsomely situated, &c. Late the property of George Hite.

Also, a two story house and lot on the main street, at present occupied by Charles Foulk.

And a vacant lot on the main street, in a central situation for business.

For particular information respecting the above property in Charles-Town, application may be made to William Tate, Esq. of that place, or to Henry St. George Tucker, Esq. of Winchester.

A tract of land in Loudoun county, containing 400 acres, situate near the Gum Spring late the property of J. Spencer. On this tract there are two settlements and about 60 acres in cultivation, the rest of the land well timbered; the new turnpike road will pass thro' a part of this tract. Captain Charles Lewis living near the Gum-Spring, will show this to any person desirous of viewing it.

One other tract of 196 acres, in Frederick county, about four miles from Winchester and near the lands belonging to Judge Holmes.
For particulars apply to Henry St. George Tucker, Esq.

One other tract of 400 acres, in Hampshire county, on a branch of Fairley's Run, near the town of Frankfort, formerly owned by Daniel Jones.

One other tract of 500 acres, in Randolph county, being part of an old military survey, on the south side of Gladly Creek, considered to be of excellent quality. This tract is situated in a thickly settled part of that country, and contiguous to the main road leading from Randolph to the horse-shoe-bottom, on Cheat-river.

One other tract, named Fertility, of 263 acres, in Westmoreland county, state of Pennsylvania; situated on the Monongahela river, and binding thereon for 3/4 of a mile, about one quarter of a mile below Casner's ferry, and 4 miles above Parkinsun's ferry. A large proportion is rich bottom land, with a valuable orchard of sugar trees and about 60 acres in cultivation. The main road from Uniontown to Pittsburg passes close by this land.

Any part of the above described propertwe are disposed to sell at reasonable rates, on the following terms, viz. One fifth in hand, and the residue in three or four equal annual payments, the purchaser giving bonds with security on the premises.

JONAH THOMPSON,

RICHARD VEITCH,

Rich Kanahwa BOTTOM LAND

FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, or exchange for improved property, in or near the town of Alexandria, fourteen hundred acres of RICH BOTTOM LAND, on the Great Kanahwa River, near its mouth, which enters into the Ohio. This land is of the very first quality, being almost entirely bottom, equal in many respects to those rich bottoms on the Potomac. It is laid off into lots from 150 to 350 acres, each lot fronting on the river and extending to the hills, which afford an outlet to a most extensive range for stock, which never can be interrupted. One hundred acres, therefore, of this rich bottom, with its great advantages, would be a good settlement. A small part of this land, which is under cultivation, rents at the rate of two dollars per acre. For further particulars apply to the subscribers.

LEWIS AND CLARK'S TOUR

TO THE

PACIFIC OCEAN,

THROUGH

THE INTERIOR OF THE CONTINENT OF

NORTH AMERICA,

Performed by order of the Government of the United States,

During the years 1804, 1805, and 1806.

This work will be prepared by Capt. Mer-weather Lewis, and will be divided into two parts, the whole comprized in three volumes octavo, the first containing at least seven hundred pages, the second and third from three five hundred each, printed on good paper and fair pica type. The several volumes in succession will be put to press at as early periods as the avocations of the author will permit him to prepare them for publication.

This distribution of the work has been made with a view to the accommodation of every description of readers, and is here offered to the patronage of the public in such shape, that all persons wishing to become subscribers, may accommodate themselves with either of the parts, or the entire work, as it shall be most convenient to themselves.

LEWIS AND CLARK'S

MAP OF NORTH AMERICA.

From longitude 9° west, to the Pacific Ocean and between 30° and 52° north latitude with extensive Marginal Notes. Dimensions five feet eight inches by three feet six inches.

Embracing all their late discoveries, and that part of the continent heretofore the least known. This map will be compiled from the best maps now extant, as well published as in manuscript, from the collective information of the best informed travellers through the various portions of that region, and corrected by a series of several hundred celestial observations, made by Captain Lewis during his late tour.

For the convenience of subscribers, these several works will be delivered at the most respectable commercial towns, and at the seat of government of the respective states and territories within the Union: no advance is required, nor will payment be demanded until such delivery is made.

The price of part the first, in two vol-will be ten dollars, and that of part the second, in one volume, eleven dollars, delivered in boards. Price of the Map, ten dollars.

Any persons who may have subscribed for these works, to lists which contained no stipulated prices for the same, and who may be dissatisfied with the terms now proposed, are at liberty to withdraw their names from such lists, at any time prior to the 1st day of December next.
